How are the submitted abstracts reviewed?

Submitted abstracts will be reviewed on the basis of an overall assessment which includes cancer relevance as well as the outcomes, quality, and generalisability of the research. In addition, the perspectives of the project; how newsworthy the study is and the extent of the national embedding will be taken into consideration.

Can I submit an abstract on an ongoing study that does not generate data prior to the conference?

Abstracts on ongoing projects and clinical protocols are welcome.

Can I submit an abstract with data presented at other conferences?

Yes, data may have been presented before. Danish Cancer Research Days is an interdisciplinary conference. Therefore, abstracts based on data that have been presented at e.g. conferences within medical specialities or international conferences are welcome.

How will my poster be displayed if my abstract is accepted?

- Poster session: The posters will be displayed virtually and will be accessible online from mid-August till mid-September. The posters will be accessible only for registered participants.
